DID YOU KNOW? HONMA HONG KONG OPEN PRESENTED BY AMUNDI

- This year's HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi will be the 60th staging of the event. The tournament was first played in 1959 and won by Lu Liang-huan, and is the longest running sporting event in Hong Kong
- It is the second consecutive year that the HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi has marked the start of a European Tour season
- The HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi is being played for the 18th time as part of the European Tour since joining the schedule for the 2002 season
- Wade Ormsby became the fifth player to win a first European Tour title at the HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi, following Fredrik Jacobson (2003), José Manuel Lara (2007), Lin Wen-tang (2009 - Nov 08), Scott Hend (2014) and Sam Brazel (2017 - Dec 18)
- In the 2014 season the event was played twice, first in December 2013 and then in October 2014
- In the December 2013 event, part of the 2014 season, Miguel Angel Jiménez became the oldest winner on the European Tour, aged 49 years and 337 days. He went on to beat his own record and become the first 50 year old to win, at the 2014 Open de España, aged 50 years and 133 days
- That was Jiménez's fourth victory in the event, following his triumphs of 2005, 2008 and 2012. His latest win equalled the record of four wins by Hsieh Yung-yo (1963-64, 75, 77)
- Should Jiménez win the event for a fifth time he would become just the fourth player in European Tour history to win the same official event five times. He would follow Tiger Woods (eight times - WGC Bridgestone Invitational and seven times - WGC - Mexico Championship), Tom Watson (five times - The Open Championship) and Bernhard Langer (five times - German Open)
- The event has a rich history of former winners, including 11 Major Champions, who have won 30 Major Championships between them: Peter Thomson (1960, 65, 67), Kel Nagle (1961), Orville Moody (1971), Greg Norman (1979, 83), Ian Woosnam (1987), Langer (1991), Watson (1992), José María Olazábal (2002), Pádraig Harrington (2004), Rory McIlroy (2011) and Justin Rose (2015)
- The previous 59 editions of the HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi have produced 48 different champions from 17 different countries
- The HONMA Hong Kong Open presented by Amundi has a history of breaking records for young players. In 2003, Shihkai Lo became the then-youngest player to compete in a European Tour event, aged just 13 years and 280 days, beating the previous record set by Sergio Garcia of 15 years and 45 days in the 1995 Turespaña Open Mediterranea. He has since been overtaken by three younger players. In 2009, Jason Hak became the then-youngest player to make a cut in a European Tour event, aged 14 and 304 days. He beat the previous record of Garcia in the aforementioned tournament, and has since lost the record to Guan Tian-lang at the 2013 Masters Tournament
